Federal, state, county, and city investigates fire origin

Death of 6 children shocks community

GRIM TASK—Funeral home employees and Waveland police officers begin the grim task Friday morning of removing the bodies of six Waveland children who died earlier in a fire in their foster home on Sears Avenue. Among those responding to the tragedy are, from left, Frank Thebeau of Edmond Fahey Funeral Home; Officers Michael Prendergast, and Kent Malley of Waveland; and Randy Tartavouille of Riemann Funeral Home. They work inside an area roped off by investigators. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Officials are scheduled to recheck a Waveland residence on Monday in which six foster children perished in an early Friday morning fire.

The foster parents, Larry and Sandy Giveans, their 14-year-old son Robbie, and a 9-month-old foster child identified as Christina, escaped the blaze which caused heavy damage to the rear of the nine room home located at 436 Sears Ave. in Waveland.

Waveland Investigator Robert Tartavouille said Larry Giveans was injured by broken glass trying to reach the children from the rear of the wood frame home.

Giveans underwent surgery Friday morning at Hancock General Hospital for a severed artery and tendon in his right wrist, according to Mary M. Perkins, hospital director of community relations.

Additionally, Mrs. Giveans was treated for shock and their son for minor burns, with both being released from the hospital.

Mr. Giveans was in good condition on Saturday morning and would probably be released later in the day, Perkins said.

The seventh foster child was left in the care of a neighbor by Mrs. Giveans after escaping from the fire, and later turned over to a Hancock County Welfare Department social worker.

Michael Haas Sr., Hancock County Youth Court judge, said two of the six deceased children were brothers and another two were sisters.

The Youth Court judge identified the foster children as, Scottie Pesta, 21 months; Robert J. Scelson Jr, two years-seven months; brothers Terrance Skinner, four years-eight months; and Jonathan Skinner, three years-eight months; sisters Rosemarie Smith, three years-five months, and Susan Smith, 18 months.

Friday morning, Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia, his eyes filled with tears, stated, "We stopped the fire, the loss of the lives was beyond our control."

Waveland had two fire units at the scene with one from neighboring Bay St. Louis.

Some 35 firefighters from Waveland, Bay St. Louis, BaySide Park, Diamondhead, and East Hancock County fire departments responded to the fire which was reported by a neighbor across the street at 5:07 a.m.

Mrs. Hubert Sandi, the neighbor, said, "I was awake and I could hear some noise and I looked out the front window and saw the flames coming from the Giveans' residence, and I dialed 911, the emergency number."

Waveland Patrolman Michael Prendergast and Firefighter William Field III were the first officials to arrive at the scene on Friday morning.

On Thursday night at 10:16 p.m., a fire was reported in a patio-utility building adjacent to the Giveans' residence and Mr. Giveans had already extinguished the blaze when the fire truck arrived, Chief Garcia said.

Jay Marsh of the Hancock County arson squad, as well as Garcia, said the fire was completely out before they left.

Seawall tax to be used for beach repair

By DENA BISHNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to divert some of the county's seawall tax money back to beachfront repair.

Three board members, Bert Courree, Roger Dale Ladner and Sam Perniciaro, made the decision Thursday over repeated objections by Board President A.A. Kellar.

The fifth board member, James

Travirca, was absent because he had left early to attend another meeting.

The seawall tax has been diverted for the past several years to pay off bonds for Port Bienville Industrial Park and Stennis Airport.

Part of the money will be left in the bond sinking fund, which had about a $1.9 million principle, about $252,000 more than the amount of the bonds, until Thursday.

Of the money to be removed, $77,000 will provide matching funds for the first year of a US Army Corps of Engineers study that is expected to lead to a federally funded beachfront reconstruction project of about $10 million to $12 million.

Another $20,000 will be used to reimburse the City of Waveland for repairs made on Beach Road after Hurricane Juan. The repairs helped make the road usable enough for the county to continue allowing light traffic. Heavy traffic is still barred.

An additional $34,000 will be used to reimburse the county's general fund for money used for clean-up and repairs after Hurricanes Elena and Juan.

Courree and Ladner both contended that the seawall money should be used for some type of permanent repairs to the road and seawall.

"Either fix it or we'll have to shut it down," said Courree.

Kellar's major objection was that the funds might be needed elsewhere.

"The county has to take financial responsibility for its part of the wastewater project. What's going to pay for that," he said.

The wastewater project, currently under construction by the Waveland Regional Wastewater management District, will eventually provide sewerage collection systems for four subdivisions in the county.

Presently, most of the county, with the exception of Jourdan River Shores, Oak Harbor and Diamondhead, has no sewerage. The three subdivision systems are under private ownership.

Kellar is also worried because the county will lose 30 percent of its funding next year when federal budget cuts, including the elimination of revenue sharing, will become effective.

He predicts a 10 percent across-the-board cut in all aspects of the county's budget.

"I can see the day when this county will not be able to live up to its obligations. It's coming," Kellar said.

Perniciaro said he would agree to take out the funds for the specific purposes that Courree and Ladner specified, but wanted the remainder of the seawall tax to remain; in the existing account until it can be assigned a specific purpose.

Kellar particularly argued with money being given to planning agencies like South Mississippi planning and Development District and Gulf Regional Planning Commission, which is serving as local administrator for the Corps study.

He said many studies had been made in his more than 20 years as supervisor but most were never used.

"We have said no to nobody, and now we're in serious financial trouble. I know this," he said.

In other business, the board:

—Proclaimed April as Child Abuse Prevention Month on request of the Hancock County Exchange Club;

—Amended the tax collector and assessor's budget to allow $10,000 in interest money to be used to upgrade the office's computer systems;

—Authorized Kellar, Ladner and Board Attorney Joseph Gex to meet April 1 with Bureau of Pollution Control officials regarding illegal dumpsites in the county; and —Approved a proposal by the Hancock County Election Commission to request that the US Department of Justice allow the Clermont Harbor voting precinct to be moved from Clermont Harbor School to St. Ann's Church.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. April 7.

Three local firms listed among award nominees

Two Bay St. Louis manufacturers and a Pass Christian industry are among 19 firms nominated from Mississippi's Fifth Congressional District for the 1986 Governor's Industrial Bronze Glove Award.

This year's nominees for one of the five prestigious citations to be awarded in the state include Alcan Cable Corporation and Hot Sticks Manufacturing Company, both of Bay St. Louis, and Gulf Coast Pre-Stress Company, Inc., Pass Christian.

Alcan manufactures cables used by the electric generating industry and Hot Sticks produces drum sticks used by musicians worldwide.

Both firms utilize unique manufacturing processes in turning out their products.

Gulf Coast Pre-Stress builds huge, reinforced concrete bridge sections.

The month of April has been proclaimed as 'Salute to Industry' month by Governor Bill Allain.

During April, communities throughout Mississippi will recognize and express their appreciation of industry with local celebrations, dinners, plant tours, displays, and other activities as a way of saying 'thank you' for the part industry, management, and labor play in the lives of Mississippians.

"The attraction of new industry is vitally important to Mississippi's future, but of equal importance are the businesses currently in the state," says Jim Miller, Mississippi Department of Economic Development Industrial Division director, concerning the 'Salute to Industry.'

"The purpose of the program is to strengthen the bond between industry and the community and to encourage further growth and expansion," according to Miller.

The Mississippi Department of Economic Development will host the Sixth Annual Salute To Industry Banquet on April 29 in conjunction with the program.

During the banquet, Governor Allain will present the Governor's NOMINEES—Page 9A

TWO INJURED—Mobile Medic personnel prepare Leo P. Raboteau, 46, of Pass Christian to be transported to Hancock General Hospital following an automobile accident Saturday at the intersection of US-90 and Beach Boulevard. According to Mary Perkins, hospital spokesman, Raboteau was admitted with a fractured right leg. Cynthia A. Martinolich, 16, of Bay St. Louis was also injured in the accident and reportedly has a fractured pelvis and a laceration to the forehead. Martinolich, driving a Dodge Omni, was crossing the highway when her vehicle was struck by the Raboteau vehicle, Bay Police Officer Frank Williams said. The accident is under investigation. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

BRIDGE ACCIDENT—Milton Dean, 41, and John Ratcliff, 46, both of Bay St. Louis, were admitted for observation to Hancock General Hospital late Friday afternoon following an accident on the Bay of St. Louis bridge. Dean was driving a 1985 Dodge pickup, left, when he struck a stalled 1977 Ford pickup from the rear. Ratcliff and Dean's 16-year-old son James were passengers in the Dodge. Patricia Smith, 21, of Bay St.

Louis, was driver of the Ford which was sandwiched between Dean's vehicle and a dump truck driven by her husband, William Smith, said Bay Police Officer D. K. Watson. Smith, her 10-month old daughter Samantha, and 15-year-old Myrtis Dyer of Fort Smith, Ark. were treated and released at the hospital. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

BOAT FIRE—Members of the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department hose down a burning 38-foot boat belonging to Jourdan River Shores residents Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Brehm. Brehm was on the boat at about noon Friday when he noticed smoke and escaped injury because he left the vessel to cut off an electrical supply to the boat from his home. He said the boat burst into flame almost immediately after he left it. Mrs. Brehm said neighbors hosed down surrounding houses to protect them from the flames but added that some of the siding on her home melted from the heat. Assisting the Kiln firefighters was Diamondhead Fire Department, which was notified by Stennis Airport personnel after Bay Aviation pilot Andy Ewing noticed the flames from the air as he flew over Jourdan River Shores. In Memoriam

"Loving Memories"
VESTIL (BLACK) PYADOU
Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall;
You had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart that loved us well and true;
Ah, bitter was the trial to part from one so good as you.

You are not forgotten, Loved One, nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last we will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore, as time goes by we miss you more.

Your loving smile, your gentle face, no one can fill your valiant place.

County approves creating water management district

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to join Harrison County in creation of a water management district, but without the consent of two board members.

The 3-2 vote Thursday included Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge, Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner and Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro for the district.

Beat One Supervisor A.A. Kellar and Beat Five Supervisor James Trivirca voted against the creation of the district for financial reasons.

A half-mill tax has been proposed to support the district, which will be administered through Gulf Regional Planning Commission and will utilize the commission's present board to cut expenses, according to Commission Attorney Michael Haas Sr., who presented the proposal.

"I'm sure this is something we should look at, but with every department facing cuts of at least 10 percent in September, I just do not see how we can justify a tax increase," Kellar said.

"I, for one, can not vote for a tax increase at this time."

The half-mill tax, if approved when the board sets its millage rate later this year, will finance studies on the area's dropping water table, wasted water from free-flowing Artesian wells, possible contamination from chemical wastes being injected into the ground and possible intrusion of salt water into drinking water supplies, said Jim Head, commission director.

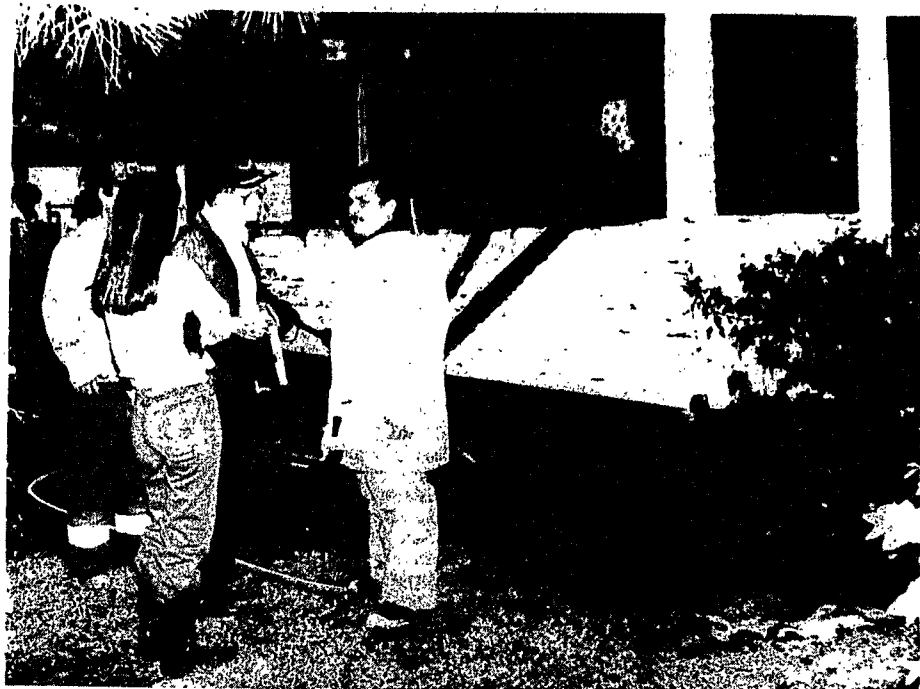

Head said too much groundwater is presently being used and the district would be able to help solve problems expected to occur as soon as 15 years in the future.

Haas said a mill brings in about $65,000 per year for Hancock County, which makes the cost of the water district about a fourth of what it is expected to cost Harrison County, since the dollar value of a Harrison County mill is higher.

He said Harrison County passed a resolution regarding the district on Monday and that both counties must advertise their intent to set up the district as well as hold a public hearing.

The hearing has been set for April 29 at 10 a.m. in the Hancock County Courthouse boardroom.

Veterans job fair set Thursday

The Mississippi State Employment Service and Veterans of Foreign Wars are staging a joint effort in Bay St. Louis to help veterans find employment.

VFW Post 3253 will sponsor a veterans' job fair Thursday at the post home at 343 Third Street. The program will begin at 7 p.m.

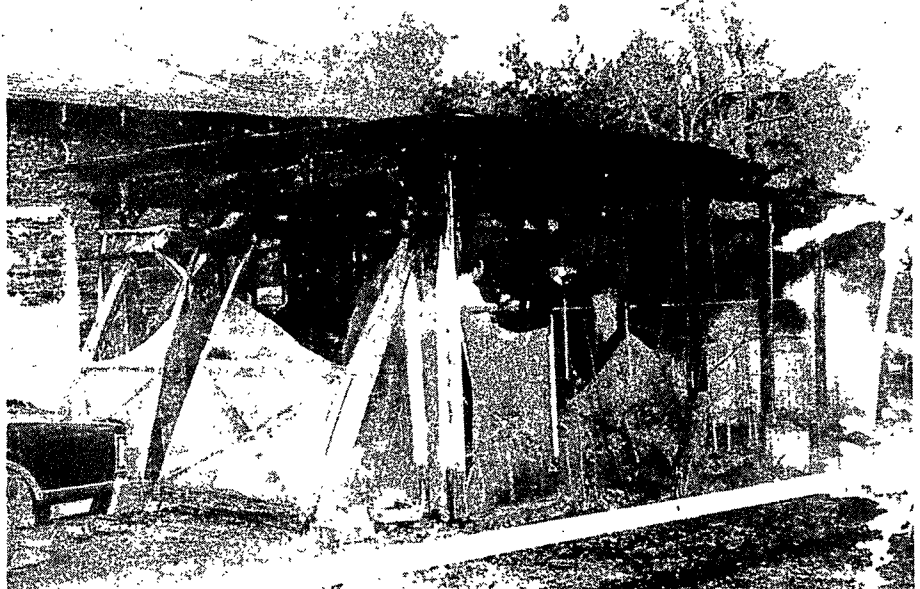

Representatives of the Mississippi State Employment Service will be present to answer questions concerning veterans' preference in the job market and to assist veterans seeking employment.

State VFW Commander Lee Childers and other state officers will also attend.

Topics to be discussed will include civil service jobs and other veteran benefits.

Any veteran, including non-members of the VFW, are invited to attend the job fair. Refreshments will be served after the program.

For more information, call Post Commander Charles Carver at 467-7036 or the post home at 467-9136.

BANNED IN BOSTON

"American Playhouse" presents "The Little Sister" starring John Savage and Tracy Pollan at 9 p.m. Monday, April 7, on Mississippi ETV.

Savage portrays an off-beat juvenile probation officer, and Tracy Pollan ("Family Ties") is the rebellious teen-age girl he tries to steer onto the right path. The film was recorded on location in Boston.

DEPRESSION

One of the most common of mental illnesses and one of the most treatable.

When does a temporary depression become a clinical depression? How can you tell when someone you love — or perhaps yourself — needs help? These symptoms are easy to recognize:

- Sleeping too much — or insomnia
- Confusion, inability to make decisions
- Loss of energy, fatigue
- Guilt feelings, lack of self-worth
- Lack of interest in work or play
- Loss of weight or excessive weight gain

Quotables by CUEVAS

We, at The Sea Coast Echo are saddened at the death of former employee Milton Cormier of Waveland this past week.

A native of New Orleans, he came to Waveland after retiring in California.

Uncle Miltie, as he was known by us all at the Echo, joined the staff as bookkeeper in 1957 and retired in 1984 at the age of 85.

A bookkeeper for more than 60 years, computers were no match for his accuracy and expertise.

He was one of the most dedicated employees of the Echo—for example, he hitched a ride to work the day after Hurricane Camille.

Losing his car to storm waters, as well as having several inches of water in his home did not keep him from reporting for duty even at his age.

We all missed Uncle Miltie when he retired, and now will remember him for many years to come.

The Annual Spring Pilgrimages are over, and beautiful weather was the order of the day for each.

All visitors appeared to have enjoyed the real hospitality offered by our many residents.

Special thanks go to the businesses and homeowners who welcomed visitors.

Good Friday is annually observed around the world as the day Jesus, the Savior of the Christian world, was crucified.

But, Good Friday 1986 also will be remembered by the citizens of Hancock County as a day of additional tragedy.

We started the day at The Sea Coast Echo with a call at about 6 a.m. concerning a fire in Waveland with fatalities.

Any fire fatality would be bad enough, but on arrival at the scene, we found the victims to be six tiny children.

Not too much later in the morning we learned that a Chalmette man working in Pearlington sustained fatal injuries when he fell from a second story roof.

At about noon we responded to a fire alarm in Jourdan River Shores where Stuart Brehm narrowly escaped injury when his yacht burst into flames and burned to the water line. For a time the boat fire also threatened his home.

Later in the afternoon the Bureau of Marine Resources responded to a report of a boat sinking in waters near Bay St. Louis.

Before 5 p.m. Friday, four persons were taken to the hospital after a dump truck towing a pickup truck was involved in a collision with another pickup on the west end of the east-bound lanes of the Bay St. Louis bridge.

Before police could complete their investigation of that accident, they were notified that a boat was stuck in the draw of the bridge.

On the bright side, however, our beaches were filled with residents and visitors enjoying brilliant sunshine and balmy temperatures.

We hope the Easter weekend continues in its expected promise of joy, and we wish you all a Happy Easter.

Eye care available to elderly in need

March 27, 1986

Dear Editor:

May I call your attention to the National Eye Care Project's Helpline, which began in Mississippi on March 17.

The project's goal is to tell everyone age 65 and over throughout the state that medical eye care is available to those who cannot afford it.

The Helpline offers medical eye care to any U.S. citizen or legal resident age 65 and over who is needy, who does not have a medical eye physician, and who has a medical eye problem.

Professional medical eye care will be offered to the disadvantaged elderly at no out-of-pocket cost to them.

Information on eye diseases will be sent to anyone who calls the toll-free Helpline number, 1-800-222-EYES.

The National Eye Care Project is sponsored by the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology. The Mississippi Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Association is serving as state sponsor.

The success of this public service project depends on reaching people over 65 who believe that they have a medical eye problem, but who do not have the resources to seek medical care.

Thank you for your help in calling your readers' attention to this important project.

Sincerely yours,
Mississippi Eye, Ear, Nose
and Throat Association
James E. Hall, MD
President

Matters of Health

It's never too late: Exercise for the older adult

Q. Exercise is fine for the young, but what if you are over 50 and want to take up some form of regular exercise? How should you go about it?

A. Whether you're young or old, exercise is needed to maintain good health. If you're over 50, however, and have led a sedentary life in recent years, don't begin strenuous activity without a complete examination by your internist or family physician.

The examination probably will include a stress test, or exercise electrocardiogram, especially if you're considering a running program, tennis or any other strenuous exercise. The stress test is designed to detect abnormalities of the heart those not serious enough to cause symptoms under ordinary conditions, but which may interfere with normal heart function during periods of extreme physical effort.

The stress test is extremely helpful in measuring the extent to which you exercise safely, even if certain abnormalities develop at peak physical effort.

Your physician will use the results of the test to prescribe exercise programs that will be safe for you.

Swimming, brisk walking or bicycling, if done regularly for at least 20 minutes several times a week, can be pleasant and effective forms of exercise for the older adult. Combine your exercise program with your lifestyle to ensure you will exercise regularly. Walk the dog at a brisk pace before bedtime, if it's the only time you can find to exercise.

Park your car a mile or some distance from the office and walk to and from work. Ride your bicycle to work or to do local errands.

You'll feel healthier when you are physically fit. Your muscles will begin to firm up, and as the calories burn off, you'll carry less fat and look better.

Statistics show good health habits—not smoking, eating properly, getting enough sleep, and exercising regularly—can add years to one's life expectancy.

For men, it can be as much as 11 years and for women, some seven years. Good health habits also reduce the risks of high blood pressure and heart attack.

Many companies today are launching physical fitness programs for their employees, because they're finding that employees who exercise regularly are happier, more productive and ill less often, missing fewer days of work.

You should begin your exercise program slowly. Stretching before and after exercising helps. Jog, swim, or bicycle at a reasonable pace and slowly build up to longer distances. Walking has proven to be an excellent form of exercise, but here, too, you should build up to brisker and longer outings.

Exercise habits, like eating habits, are established early in life. Unfortunately, too many of us forego the natural exercises of running and playing the games of our childhood when we become adults, and we settle for a more sedentary way of life.

It's never too late, however, to begin an exercise program. Getting in shape involves work along with the fun, but the price you pay is small for a lifetime of good health.

DEVELOPING OUR AGRICULTURAL MARKETS

While economic observers and many in Washington are railing against the United States' trade imbalance with our trading partners, but doing little about it, one agency of the federal government is quietly and successfully going about the job of developing markets for certain products overseas.

Through the efforts of the Foreign Agriculture Service (FAS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a unique public-private cooperative system has evolved to create markets abroad for U.S. agriculture and related industries.

FAS is the public partner in the system. The private sector is represented by 60 so-called "cooperator" groups which work to develop markets in 130 countries.

It's no accident, therefore, that agricultural trade has shown a positive balance every year since 1960 and that exports worth nearly $35 billion now account for about a third of overall U.S. agricultural sales.

FAS has evolved to become the Secretary of Agriculture's representative abroad.

The agency has responsibility for gathering and publishing most of the U.S. government statistics relating to foreign agriculture, for monitoring and development of U.S. trade policy relating to agriculture (in conjunction with the U.S. Trade Representative) and for market development activities.

In order for FAS to succeed in its market development activities, it has evolved a cooperator program to involve private sector agricultural interests in export market development. These cooperators, all private, non-profit organizations, promote the interest of the products or commodities they represent.

They include a number of products important to us in Mississippi: catfish, cotton, soybeans, feed grains and forest products.

The cooperator program for the individual products has in most cases proven to become a catalyst for the industry to do a better job in export market development.

For example, the National Forest Products Association which serves South Mississippi became a cooperator in 1979. Before the cooperator program under FAS began, only two of the industry's sectors were promoting products overseas.

After five years in the program, 15 federal forest products associations have a coordinated program in 35 countries, and export promotion expenditures have increased 10 times.

Market development cooperators are constantly involved in the identification of market opportunities in different countries. They send experts to judge the market situation in individual countries, to examine current technology and business practices, to estimate market demand and to learn about the laws and regulations governing trade of the products of interest.

Because agricultural products, more than almost any other product, are subject to government intervention around the world, FAS concentrates on working with their target countries to ease trade and technical barriers to the export of U.S. farm products.

I am convinced that the federal government works best when it works in partnership with experts in business and local governments to achieve a common goal. The work of the Foreign Agricultural Service is a model of how much can be accomplished with a modest investment when the federal government stresses cooperation, rather than regulation.

MEC

Economic Council

The governor who heads one of America's most successful economic development programs will address the annual membership meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council April 17 in Jackson.

Governor Lamar Alexander of Tennessee, named this week by 'Newsweek' magazine as one of the two most effective governors in the nation, will be the principal speaker at a noon luncheon on April 17 for MEC members and guests.

The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn Downtown in Jackson.

Announcement of Alexander's address came from David Crews of Tupelo, chairman of the council's annual meeting.

Alexander, whose state has landed 30 Japanese companies, including Nissan Motor Corporation, and whose state has recently been selected as the site for the new 6,000-employee General Motors Saturn manufacturing facility, heads a list of outstanding speakers scheduled to appear during the course of the two-day council meeting.

On Wednesday, April 16, the Council's Executive Committee and Board of Directors will be involved in meetings. Three general sessions are scheduled for Thursday, April 17.

A mid-morning panel led by Fiscal Management Board member Mike

Sturdivant will discuss the organizational and financial management of state government.

Joining Sturdivant on the panel will be State Treasurer Bill Cole and Francis Geoghegan, former director of the state's Budget Commission.

In addition to the panel discussion, Brad Chism, Governor Bill Allain's liaison officer with his constitution study commission, will report on the status of that work.

The state of higher education in Mississippi will be the subject for a late morning discussion on April 17.

Heading the panel will be Denton Rogers of Pontotoc, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Institutions of Higher Learning.

Teaming with Rogers on the panel will be Dr. Aubrey Lucas, president of the University of Southern Mississippi, and Senator Cy Rosenblatt of Jackson, who has sponsored higher education reform legislation in the Senate.

Special features of the meeting will include championship competition for the MEC-sponsored Mississippi Free Enterprise Games, pitting Seminary High School, the South Mississippi crown winner, against Lee Academy of Clarksdale, the North Mississippi title holder.

Also, the state's top high school scholars and teachers will receive scholarship awards.

"Governor Alexander has become the model for America in the field of economic development," said Crews. "We believe we can learn some valuable lessons from the Tennessee experience. We are inviting and encouraging all Mississippians interested and involved in the economic development of the state and the various communities to attend this meeting."

Crews said ticket information for non-council members is available from the council office in Jackson.

I Was Not There

I was not there when His earthly mother placed Him in the manger on that first Christmas.

I did not see the angels who announced His birth to the shepherds watching their flocks in the field.

Nor did I follow the bright new star that shown in that long-ago Bethlehem sky.

I was not there when He talked with the wise men in the temple, nor did I witness their astonishment at His questions.

I was not there when He walked upon the sea, fed the five thousand, or calmed the storm.

Nor did I see Him raise Lazarus from the dead.

No, I was not there when He performed His miracles nor when He healed the lepers and the blind.

No, I was not there to hear the parables that He told nor did I witness the sermons that He preached.

I was not there when He walked the dusty roads of Palestine, nor did I witness the agony that He suffered for me in the Garden of Gethsemane.

I was not there when He was brought to trial before Pontius Pilate.

I did not watch as the soldiers scourged and mocked Him, nor did I see the crown of thorns placed upon His head.

I was not there to feel His pain when He was nailed to the cross on Calvary.

I did not taste the vinegar that He was given to drink nor did I hear His dying words, "Father forgive them."

I was not there to visit the empty sepulchre.

I did not touch the linen clothes and napkin that He left behind, nor did I speak to the angels within.

I was not there to talk with Him in the Garden.

I did not feel the nail prints in His hands nor did I thrust doubting fingers into His side.

No, I was not there to know Him.

And yet, the work that He accomplished, His Heavenly Father and mine, the sacred scriptures, the testimonies of apostles and prophets, and the still, small voice of the Holy Ghost.

All bear witness to my spirit that He is the Only Begotten Son of God, that He is My Redeemer, that He is Jesus, the Christ.

Gone But Not Forgotten

Gone—but not forgotten, nor will He ever be;

The Lord who came to Earth from Heaven, to save sinners like you and me.

He spent a short time upon the Earth, yet gave it such a wonderful rebirth.

They nailed Him to a cruel cross, though His life on Earth was never lost.

They bound Him and they laid Him in a tomb so big and dim; They rolled a huge stone against the door, and left Him to rest forevermore.

The grave clothes could not hold Him, nor could the tomb so dim; The angels rolled the stone away, Christ rose in Glory on that day.

He lives in Glory with the Father, who gave His Son to save us all; He'll come again to take us home, the one He's preparing now—recall?

Thank God that He is risen, he said ere He went away.

I'll not leave you alone, but will send you the Comforter to stay.

I too will return for you all one day, after I have prepared a place

To receive you 'Unto Myself' for He has saved us by His wonderful grace.

Thank you, Father—for your Son who came. He died for us—but rose again.

We long for His return today, He is not forgotten—though He's gone away.

The Cross

I heard a preacher speak tonight; it was about the cross.

Where Jesus hung—He was the Light, He hung there for the lost.

There was a dead and lonely tree with cross-arms extended wide.

One in the center was for each "Me," His arms bring the world inside.

Draw a line to each end of the cross, four triangles there you see.

Each pointing to the Center One who died for you and me.

An inner circle there is found, one long line of the cross leads to the ground;

One short arm points us to the sky, arms of Jesus extended wide—

To unfold the whole wide world inside

Ulman Pier to reopen

BY DENA BISNETTE

Although the county has been unable to obtain liability insurance, the Ulman Avenue Pier is scheduled to be reopened as soon as additional warning signs can be posted.

Chancery Clerk Michael Necaice, who had been authorized to try to obtain quotes on insurance several weeks ago, said the only quote he had been able to obtain was for a $3,328 yearly premium offering $300,000 in coverage.

That coverage does not include liability for people injured while swimming and diving.

The coverage is for $200,000 less than the county's old policy, which carried a premium of $1,046. That policy was cancelled when the firm providing the insurance stopped issuing municipal liability policies.

A plan for turning the operation of the pier over to the Hancock County Exchange Club was abandoned after Necaice found that a liability insurance premium for the pier would cost a civic group about $2,700.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro said he feels it is important to reopen the pier because it is one of the county's most-used public facilities.

He pointed out that buying the insurance would do the county little good if the policy does not cover swimming and diving, which is how most injuries occur.

Board members have repeatedly pointed out that the City of Bay St. Louis had to raise its sales tax after losing a lawsuit filed by the family of a young man injured when he allegedly fell off a municipal pier.

Board President A.A. Kellar said he feels the county should do as much as possible to protect itself from lawsuits by posting additional warning signs on the pier and by stenciling warnings on the pier itself.

The pier presently has a sign warning against diving and swimming. The board voted not to purchase the insurance but to reopen the pier anyway.

Board Attorney Joseph Gex said the pier is not the only uninsured facility in the county.

According to Gex, the county has no liability insurance on any of its buildings, roads or other facilities. The only county vehicles insured are sheriff's department vehicles, which are insured because they travel at excessive speeds.

Theodore S. Price Auxiliary 3253 District I VFW Auxiliary

Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary District I President Lucille Boudreaux was honored with a homecoming dinner on her official visit to the Theodore S. Price Auxiliary 3253, Bay St. Louis, on March 19.

She was welcomed by President Jeanne Garcia and all members. Mrs. Boudreaux thanked them for supporting her through the years, allowing her to reach her present office. She is the first person from the Bay St. Louis organization to be elected president.

On March 20, President Boudreaux made her official visit to Cecil R. Rud-dock Auxiliary 5931, Pass-Christian. She was welcomed by President Mattie Mitchell, Department President Norma Bonney and Post Commander Leroy Necaie. Following a dinner, Boudreaux spoke on achieving 100 percent membership and reporting of all programs.

District I convention will be held at the Best Western Motel, Highway 49, Gulfport, on April 25-27. Representatives from all Coast posts and auxiliaries are encouraged to attend and support Kenny Boggs as District I commander and Lucille Boudreaux as president.

Boudreaux paid an official visit to junior girls Unit 6731, North Bay Biloxi, where she was welcomed by President Cherrie Surgis. Members staged an Americanism play and sang "God Bless America."

Boudreaux visited Alfred Allemen Junior Unit 2539, Gulfport and was welcomed by President Tammy Peterson. Six new members were introduced. The unit does a considerable amount of hospital volunteer work, and nursing home visitation.

Cottie Installations were observed by Boudreaux at Oswald L. Fayard Post and Auxiliary 6731, North Biloxi, and Eddie Blake Memorial 3937, Long Beach.

A council of administration meeting in Jackson was attended by Richard and Jeanne Garcia, Harris and Lucille Boudreaux, Charles and Linda Carver and H. B. and Jean Lewis. Lee Childress, Department Commander, and Norma Bonney presided over the business sessions.

The post and auxiliary hosted an Easter egg party for the Headstart Center on Washington Street. Chairmen were Charles Carver, Jeanne Garcia, Richard Garcia and Inez Bous.

On March 30, the group will host a family Easter egg hunt at 2 p.m. at the post home. Members, their children and grandchildren are invited to attend.

The next meeting of Auxiliary 3253 will be April 9 at 7:30 p.m. Election of officers will be held. The post meeting will be April 8 p.m., also for election of officers.

Mississippi Reporting Service

Week Ending March 21

By Rosa Lee H. Jones
"Where to make budget cuts?"
"How long it will take?"

Those are the two questions on the minds of legislators as they enter the last 15 days of the regular session.

A "rank and file" committee of 25 House members has put forth a $177 million option package of proposed budget cuts. Their 46 item list includes a freeze on hiring, salary and travel, a tax amnesty program, an early retirement plan for state employees and a lottery.

These suggested budget cuts, along with the $120 million list offered last week by House leadership, are in a massive resolution asking for a suspension of the rules allowing these bills to be introduced. The resolution, which requires a two-thirds approval in both chambers, also includes a provision allowing the Legislature to meet for an additional 30 days. The session is now scheduled to adjourn on April 6.

Mental Health and the Cooperative Extension Service this week joined the tiny list of agencies to receive some assurances from the legislature that their budgets will not be slashed.

The House added $7.4 million to a $61.2 million Senate-passed appropriation for the State Department of Mental Health, which ensured that long-term mental patients will continue to receive care.

With pressure coming from rural constituents alarmed about the possibility of cutting out home economists and 4-H agents, the Cooperative Extension Service received $11.9 million in a House bill.

A $3 million tobacco tax hike passed by the Senate last week designed to keep the door ajar to a tax increase was killed in the House because of anti-tax sentiment.

Money cut from the state Highway Department was designated by the House to fund a veterans' nursing home in Jackson. The $2.2 million of the $10 million from the highway budget will be matched with $4.4 million in federal funds.

The House cut funding for the Institute for Technology Development by more than half but allowed the private, non-profit research institute dedicated to attracting industry to survive. The institute originally had been slated to receive $4 million, but got $1.75 million from the House. The Senate earlier approved $1 million for ITD. A compromise plan authorizing $100 million in bonds for economic development was approved by both the House and the Senate.

The nation's largest lottery supplier has offered to guarantee Mississippi an average of $50 million a year in profits if the legislature and voters approve a statewide lottery. Scientific Games, of Norcross,

Ga., says a lottery in the state should take in between $130 and $180 million, with the state winning 30 to 35 percent of that total. A lottery bill has already died in the Senate, but has strong support in the House. Lottery supporter Sen. Howard Dyer said he would use the company's guarantee to persuade his colleagues to suspend the rules and bring the lottery up again.

Voting Records

House of Representatives
The following three votes concern the funding of the Institute of Technology Development and the funding of bonds for development. On Monday the House voted to reject a compromise bill that included $12 million for ITD. Yea - 72, Nay - 48, Absent - 2, Phillips - Yea.

They reversed that decision on Thursday after the bill was stripped of $12 million of bond proceeds earmarked for the ITD. Yea - 118, Nay - 3, Absent - 1, Phillips - Yea.

Finally they passed a Senate bill to allocate funds from the treasury to the ITD. The Senate passed the bill at $1 million and the House increased the figure to $1.7. The final figure is yet to be set. Yea - 90, Nay - 28, Absent - 3, Present 1, Phillips - Yea.

A bill to insure needed funding for the State Board of Mental Health passed the House unanimously. An additional bill that would allocate funds for a military veterans' nursing home passed with only one dissenting vote (Junkin). Another bill gave $11.9 million to the Cooperative Extension Service. It passed. Yea - 112, Nay - 9, Phillips - Yea.

Is an IRA right for you?

You've heard all the talk about Individual Retirement Accounts. The tax break you get. The retirement income you can count on.

But, you're probably wondering if an IRA is right for you.

"Don't you need $2,000?"

If you work, you can start an IRA at Hancock Bank with as little as $5.00. Then, just put in what you want, when you want.

You don't have to contribute every month, or even every year. But your money keeps on working for you, earning interest.

The money you put in is not taxable until you take it out. Even the interest is sheltered.

"How much can I put away?"

If you're employed, you can put up to $2,000 in your IRA. $2,000 each for working couples. Or, a $2,250 combined total for a couple if only one of you is employed.

If you deposit at least $2,000, you're eligible for your choice of 18-month or 30-month fixed-interest rates. Amounts less than $2,000 earn money-market rates that change monthly. When your IRA builds up to $2,000, we'll be happy to lock in a fixed rate for you. It's usually higher.

"Can I still get a break on '85 taxes?"

Yes. You can open an IRA right up until April 15th of 1986, and still apply the tax-savings to your 1985 return.

But don't wait past April 15th. Even if the IRS gives you an extension for your return. That's a firm deadline this year.

"Do you have to itemize?"

No. You can use a regular 1040 form and still get credit for your IRA contribution. It comes right off the top of your taxable income.

"When can I get my money?"

You can start taking money out of your IRA at age 59½. Of course, it's your money, and you can take it out any time you want. But the federal government imposes a 10% penalty for withdrawal before 59½. And if your money is in a fixed-rate time deposit, there may be an additional penalty.

So, think of your IRA as a long-term investment for retirement. Not a temporary tax shelter or savings for emergencies.

When you reach 59½, you can get your

IRA in one lump sum, or set up a regular monthly income. Or, if you choose, you can wait until 70½ to start receiving payments.

"Only have a little to put in now. Would I have much by retirement?"

Let's say you're 30 years old, and in the 29% tax bracket. Look at how $50.00 a month would add up:

Estimated value at age 65: (based on 10% interest)
TOTAL DEPOSIT OVER 35 YEARS @ $50.00 PER MONTH	$21,000.00
TAX SAVINGS	6,090.00
TOTAL INVESTMENT	14,910.00
ESTIMATED IRA VALUE	172,252.00
ESTIMATED MONTHLY PAYMENT FOR 15 YEARS	2,027.00
TOTAL RETURN	$364,858.00

"What's a Self-Directed IRA?"

It's a new service offered by Hancock Bank that lets you make the investment decisions on your IRA.

Suppose you want to buy blue-chip stocks, mutual funds, or the new zero-coupon bonds. You simply call Hancock Bank and tell us where you want to invest. We won't advise you — it's your decision. But we can make the investment for you, usually for less than you'd be charged at a regular brokerage firm.

"Can I really start my IRA with a phone call?"

We've tried to clear up some questions about IRAs. And if you're beginning to think an IRA is the way to go for you, you're on the right track.

So, pick up the phone and call Mae Beth Tracy at 868-4406. She'll answer any other questions you might have. Explain the new self-directed IRAs we offer. She'll quote you our current rates.

And, if you like, Mae Beth will fill out an application form with you over the phone and mail it to you. So, all you'll have to do is sign it at home, and send it in with your first deposit.

Or come by any of our offices to ask about IRAs. We're always glad to see you.

But, open your IRA now. You'll enjoy the satisfaction of getting a tax break this year. While you build an income for retirement.

Friday and Saturday, Garcia and Marsh stated that the fatal fire was not a flare up of the fire the night before which burned the utility room.

Garcia said, "Marsh and I remained for over 30 minutes after the fire truck left on Thursday night. Our department hosed down the area after we arrived, even though Mr. Giveans had the fire out."

"We made sure the fire was out, I even checked the wires and everything in the area, and I do not think rekindling was possible," Marsh allowed on Saturday. The matter is being treated as two separate fires, he said.

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lazana, who also responded to the fatal fire on Friday morning commented, "The Waveland Fire Department did an excellent job in extinguishing the fire."

Patrolman Prendergast said he had checked the residence twice after firefighters left Thursday night, the last time being a little after 4 a.m., and saw nothing.

The patrolman, who was near the area when the alarm sounded, stated, "I got there before the fire truck, and also Firefighter William Field, and could hear screams inside the house, we could not get halfway into the front door because of the extreme heat, smoke and flames."

The heaviest fire damages appeared to have been to the rear of the residence in addition to the patio-utility building.

"Mr. Giveans cut himself very badly trying to reach the children through a back window of the house. I tried to help stop the bleeding until the ambulance arrived," Prendergast added.

Wallace Bradley, Hancock County Welfare director, late Saturday commented, "What can I say, it is a tragedy. I am all torn up, it is just like they were our children."

On Friday, the investigation of the blaze was being investigated by Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents, Waveland Fire Department, Waveland Police investigators, District Attorney Cono Corona, Hancock County Prosecutor John Genin, Fire Investigator Art Hansen of Ocean Springs, Diamondhead Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook, and the state fire marshal's office.

Marsh said Westbrook was requested by the state fire marshal, AFT agents by the district attorney, and Hansen by the AFT agents.

Hancock County Coroner Harold Stiglet reported the bodies were burned beyond recognition, and have been sent to the University Medical Center in Jackson to determine the identity and cause of death of each child.

The body of one child was found in a hallway leading to the kitchen, three were in one bedroom, and two were in another bedroom, Stiglet said.

The seventh foster child reportedly slept in a crib in the bedroom of the Giveans in the front of the house, and their natural son Robbie also had a front bedroom, officials say.

The six small children slept in two back bedrooms.

Waveland Mayor John Longo, in commenting on the incident stated, "This was a terrible tragedy and is under investigation by every department. It has been a severe shock to the people of Waveland and surrounding communities."

"I hope steps will be taken to insure that nothing like this will never happen again."

Marsh reported that Deputy State Fire Marshall Norman Cowart of Wiggins is coming Monday and that all investigators will get together and try to determine the origin of the fire.

The arson squad officer said samples were collected from the structure on Friday and they will be awaiting a report from the lab.

Waveland Chief of Police Donald Dorn, said Saturday, "Investigators Robert Tartavouille and Sandra Henley are involved with the many agencies in the investigation of the cause of the fire with each department doing their part."

"Samples have been sent to the Mississippi Crime Laboratory from the building by fire investigators and as soon as they receive the results, they will be able to talk to police," Dorn added.

The chief continued, "I am sure they will be able to determine the origin and cause of the fire."

"Our office has been flooded with inquiries by the media, and as you know, investigations like this takes time," Dorn allowed.

Stiglet indicated late Saturday he had obtained information from the foster parents about the children on Saturday and supplied it to Dr. Thomas Bennett, state medical examiner, who is working on their identifications.

Larry Giveans, who is a commercial fisherman, and his wife Sandra, were described as being "wonderful foster parents" by Mrs. Sandi.

Man killed in fall from house roof

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A Chalmette, La. man was killed Friday morning in a fall from a roof in Pearlington.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, "Wilton Boleware, 52, LaCoste Circle, Chalmette, La., around 10 a.m. fell approximately 20 feet from a two-story house in Pearlington where he was installing a roof."

The home was owned by Donald Riley, Samol Road, Belle Isle Subdivision, Pearlington, Peterson stated.

Hancock County Coroner Stiglet reported, Boleware died of multiple head injuries, as he apparently landed on his head.

Hancock Investigator Glen Strong investigated the accident.

In other police matters, a boat owned by Stuart Brehm, burned and sunk in Jourdan River Estates on Saturday.

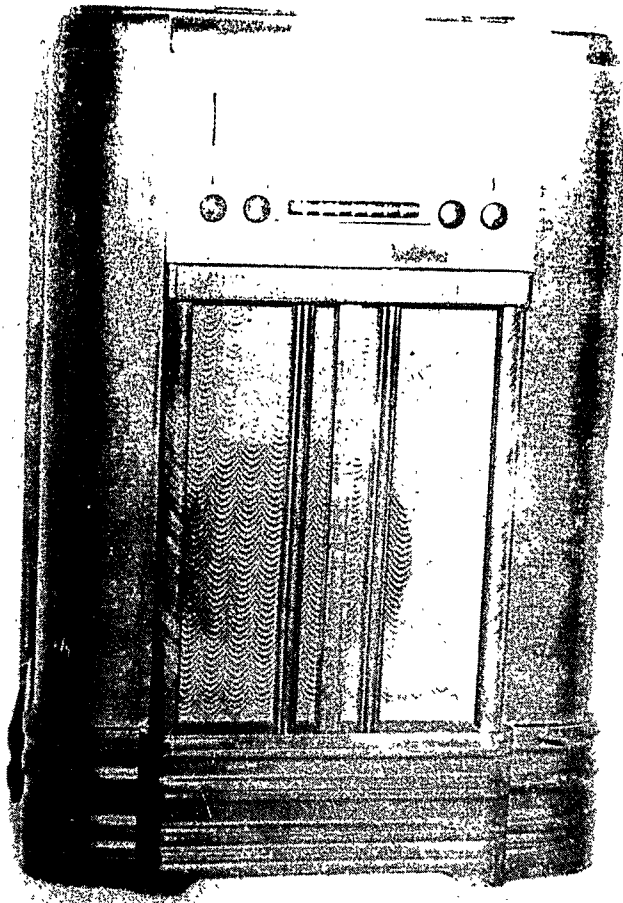

Story Hour titles listed

Story programs for pre-school children are conducted Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. at City-County Library on US-90 and 10:30 a.m. Fridays at Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue.

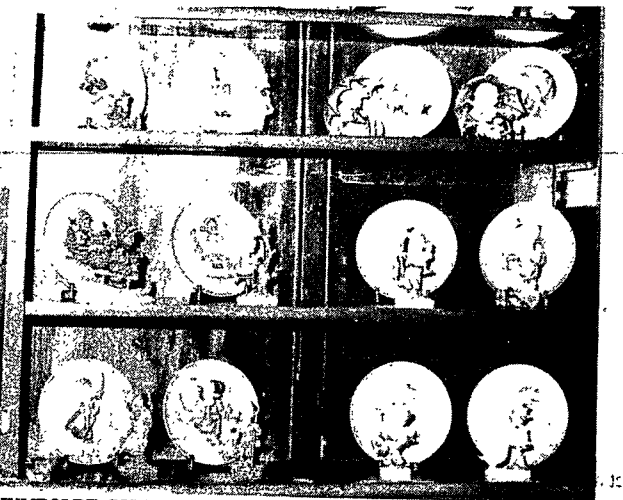

The City-County Library program this week includes "George Shrinks" by William Joyce; "Gone Fishing" by Earlene Long; "I'm Too Small, You're Too Big" by Judi Barrett; "Apples," a finger play; "Smaller, Smaller," a physical activity; "The Great Big Enormous Turnip," a flannel board story and the film "Good Night Owl."

Waveland Library program this week includes "Really Spring" by Gene Zion; "Little Red Hen," a flannel board story; "Family of Owls," and "Dig a Little Hole," both finger plays; "Plant a Seed," a physical activity; and the film "Good Night Owl."

BY DENA BISNETTE

Waveland Water Management Commission is preparing to negotiate with the private sector for the purchase of some sewerage collection systems.

The district board members have narrowed the field of applicants down to two.

Eaton, formerly of partnership, had worked for a segment of which will eventually be Waveland and Bay.

Shoreline Park. If the district sets up a partnership with Eaton, Eaton will manage and design of the sewerage collection system. The engineers were the three finalists on the design proposal subcommittee.

Wastewater elects to negotiate sewerage systems with Eaton

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District is preparing to negotiate with an engineer for the planning and design of some of the first sewerage collection systems in the county.

The district board met Wednesday afternoon to narrow the field of nine prospective applicants down to Ray Eaton of Jackson.

Eaton, formerly of Lewis-Eaton Partnership, had worked on an earlier segment of the project, which will eventually link the Waveland and Bay St. Lewis sewerage treatment systems and provide sewerage treatment to four divisions in the county.

The four subdivisions include Jordan River Estates, Jourdan River Estates, Shoreline Estates (also known as Garden Isles), and Shoreline Park.

If the district sets up a contract with Eaton, Eaton will handle the planning and design of what District Administrator Ethel Schott describes as "an innovative, low-cost sewerage collection system."

The engineers were selected from five finalists on the basis of a design proposal submitted to the board.

Selection criteria included experience with the Atlanta District of the US Environmental Protection Agency, professional experience, availability of proposed design, past record of performance, understanding of project scope and problems

News Brief

SOFT CRAB WORKSHOP

There will be a soft-shelled crab workshop on April 5, 1986 at the auditorium of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs.

The program is designed to instruct in techniques of producing soft-shelled crabs and will cover biology, identification, harvesting, economics and closed system production.

The program, sponsored by the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, the Mississippi Sea Grant Advisory Service and the Alabama Sea Grant Advisory Service, will begin at 10 a.m. and run until 3:30 p.m. with a lunch break.

For more information, contact Ron Lukens at (601) 388-4710 or Rick Wallace in Alabama at (205) 661-5004.

BAKER IS BACK

"Who" is the operative word in the "Doctor Who" series these days. It was Jon Pertwee. But now it's Tom Baker again, beginning April 5, on Mississippi ETV.

After a six-month hiatus during which "Doctor Who" fans were treated to actor Jon Pertwee's suave interpretation of the time-traveling space hero, Tom Baker returns to reclaim his role of the kinetic, Harpo-Marxist Doctor.

"Doctor Who" can be seen statewide on Mississippi ETV at 4 p.m. Saturdays.

Police seeking robbery suspect

BY DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis authorities are seeking a man who robbed a clerk at a Main Street shop at knifepoint Thursday.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Detective David Murtagh, the robber is a clean-shaven black man about six feet tall with short hair. He was wearing blue jeans and a blue shirt on the day of the robbery.

Murtagh said the man entered Second Time Around, an antique shop in the 200-block of Main, at about 12:25 a.m. and threatened the store's female clerk with a knife, forcing her into a bathroom, then took about $130 from a cash register.

There were no customers in the store at the time.

The suspect apparently fled on foot.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Crafty Homemakers

The Crafty Homemakers' Extension met March 24 at the home of Mrs. Ethel Mae Fillingame.

Mrs. Minnie Geiger led the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Fillingame gave the devotional which was on 'confidence and assurance' as taken from the Bible, from the various quotes.

Minutes were read by Mrs. Roslyn Weathers, who accepted the office of secretary-treasurer, due to the illness of Mrs. Marguerite Fayard.

At the last meeting, requests were made for the fronts of Christmas cards, and this time requests were made for the fronts of any scenic, animal or floral cards for the Hotel Reed Nursing and Retirement Home.

Mrs. Beatrice Ladner won a blue ribbon for a dress she displayed at the meeting on March 18.

The focus was on 'poison in foods' and 'what's happening in today's news.' A new constitution and 1986 Homemakers' Handbook was handed to the members.

Mrs. M. Geiger read a letter advising the members of the projects and cuts to be made by the state department.

Mrs. Fillingame gave a demonstration on dried flowers.

Most of the flowers were native to Alaska, where Mr. and Mrs. Fillingame spent many years.

The first tour planned will be on April 29 to the Catfish House and Museum.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

Members of the Blue Jeans Garden Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Goodloe, Clermont Harbor, for the March meeting of the group. The meeting was opened with a prayer led by Mrs. Goodloe who also read the inspirational poem 'How to Find Happiness.'

Mrs. Beverly Coogan, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president.

Of interest to all the ladies was a discussion of the club's 'Plant Sale for Members' held annually in April following the business meeting.

Another topic of special interest discussed was the Blue Jeans' annual Hat Show and Birthday Luncheon which was held in May.

Plants and arrangements were judged and the winners in the various categories include Mrs. Shirley Cox, miniature; Mrs. George Heitzman, dried, Mrs. Dorothy Besses, horticulture, Mrs. Davis Caillier, potted; and Ms. Beverley Praetorius, cultivated.

Mrs. Gilbert Brechtel was winner of the door prize, a potted begonia plant. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Goodloe were Mrs. Irene Graff and Mrs. Germaine Mains.

Homemakers Council

The Homemakers Council of Hancock County held their annual Fashion Revue recently at the County Extension Office on Dunbar Avenue.

There were 13 blue ribbon winning entries of which 7 will represent the county at the district showing April 2nd at the Coca Cola-Bottling Company in Hattiesburg.

Those winning blue ribbons were Theresa Shiyou, children's wear; Barbara Pursley, evening wear, casual dress and sportswear; Alice Hondzinski, sportswear and suit; Alice Green, sportswear and casual dress; Beatrice Ladner, suit and casual dress; Millie Fisher, casual dress and buymanship; Charlotte Edwards, two entries in casual dress.

Alice Hondzinski, chairman of the Cultural Arts, Textiles and Clothing Committee for the county introduced Darlene Underwood, Extension home economist, and Clarisse Hively who moderated the showing of the handmade and originally designed garments.

Fashion Revue participants and guests were treated to an elegant refreshment table furnished by club members following the revue.

Bermond-Peterson

Harold L. Bermond of Bay St. Louis announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Sharon Marie Bermond, to Gregory Bryant Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Peterson of Waveland. Miss Bermond is the daughter of the late Joyce Bermond.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and employed in the physical therapy department at Garden Park Hospital in Gulfport.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and is employed with G & M Auto Electric in Waveland.

The couple will exchange vows April 12 in a 2 p.m. ceremony at Our Lay of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis, with reception following at Diamondhead Community Center.

Necaise-Fricke

Stacey Ann Fricke became the bride of Tracy James Necaise on March 8 in a 2 p.m. ceremony at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Kiln. Judge Joe Dobson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Fricke of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Necaise of Kiln.

Musical selections were provided by Mrs. Cathy Asher of Bay St. Louis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white luster sheer in victorian styling with high lace collar, sheer yoke trimmed with embroidered lace cameo and outlined with wedgewood lace and long tapered sleeves. A satin ribbon sash encircled the waist and the lace ruffled A-line skirt featured a sweep train. She wore a wreath of lace and silk flowers with illusion pouf and streamers and tiny ribbons at the back.

The bride carried a bouquet of blue and white silk sweetheart roses with baby's breath, pearls and white satin streamers.

Michelle Jacobson of Lakeshore was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Terrence Necaise and Thirrey Necaise, both of Dedeaux.

The attendants were attired in light blue matte taffeta gowns, each with sweetheart neckline and double ruffled short sleeves, fitted waistline and full, flared skirt. They wore silk flower wreaths with ribbon streamers to match their gowns, and carried blue sweetheart roses with baby's breath and matching streamers.

Ronnie Spiers of Picayune was best man.

Groomsmen were Warren Bourgeois Jr. of Kiln and Brian Necaise of Dedeaux.

Ushers were Danny Johnson of Bay St. Louis, an uncle, and E. J. Garriga of Dedeaux.

Mrs. Fricke chose for her daughter's wedding a tea length gown of mauve chiffon over taffeta with handkerchief hemline. A jacket of schiffli embroidered English net with mandarin collar and long, tapered sleeves topped the dress.

The groom's mother was attired in a long gown of blue silk, fashioned with pleated skirt.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Kiln VFW hall. The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and held a seven tiered wedding cake decorated with blue sugar spun roses and silver leaves. A flowing fountain with blue water was centered in the middle of the cake, with miniature replicas of the wedding party on either side. Silver candelabra flanked the cake.

Betty Lou Necaise of Bay St. Louis, aunt of the bride, made and served the wedding cake. Others assisting at the reception were Betty Necaise and Victor Necaise of Bay St. Louis; Margaret Lee of Waveland, Peggy Jacobson of Lakeshore and Eveline Hoda of Kiln.

MELISSA HENLEY AND STEVEN DEARMAN

Henley-Dearman

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Henley III of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter, Melissa Marie Henley, to Steven Lee Dearman, also of Bay St. Louis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Salters of Lumberton.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mrs. Allie Cospelich and the late Alfred Cospelich and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henley Jr. of Bay St. Louis. She is the great-granddaughter of Mrs. Henry Poillon of Bay St. Louis.

Miss Henley was graduated from Bay Senior High School in 1982. She is presently attending Philip's College and is employed with Methodist Children's Center.

The prospective groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Howell of Purvis, and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Salters of Lumberton.

Mr. Dearman was graduated from Lumberton High School and is presently employed with Western Oceanic Inc. of Houston, Tex.

Vows will be exchanged April 12 in a ceremony at the First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis.

I've been wanting to cook up a crawfish etouffee - that classic but so-easy staple of Cajun cuisine - but I'm so fond of boiled crawfish that I find it difficult to set aside enough of the tails to make the dish! Instead, I keep on peeling and eating the crawfish on the spot!

"Etouffee" - "ay-too-fay" - incidentally, just means "smothered" and is a marvelous way of cooking seafood, less tender cuts of meat, also poultry, a technique which Creole and Cajun cooks have brought to perfection through the years, cooking the crawfish or whatever slowly, over a low flame in a heavy covered skillet, preferably cast iron.

Some cooks have described crawfish etouffee as a "peppery stew served with rice" - well, it's peppery and well seasoned, and it's served with rice - but, if you just stew up the crawfish, I won't be there when you serve it! Slowly, slowly simmer - that's the secret.

And, incidentally, keep that tomato paste out of my etouffee, if you please or, even if you don't, please. Although I'm quite fond of tomatoes in all sorts of dishes, you don't need to add tomatoes to this dish, for the crawfish quickly give their own rosy color to the etouffee, without the addition of tomatoes or paste, even though some recipes call for the addition.

At any rate, here's my:

CRAWFISH ETOUFFEE

This is one of those "it depends" recipes - often, I find, the most enjoyable, as it depends upon how much of this and that you have on hand, and what you want to do with it!

At any rate, after you have eaten your fill of crawfish, and managed to keep some on hand, see how much of the cleaned crawfish tails are left.

For each pound of the crawfish tails, you need a few green onions with their tops, chopped coarsely, along with dashes of pepper, and salt, if you wish, a little oil and some bright fresh parsley for garnishing, and, of course, for this dish, generous splashes of hot pepper sauce.

Pour into your heavy skillet just enough oil to film the bottom of the pot, heat until it just starts to smoke, and toss in the onions. Then add the crawfish fat, if you're lucky enough to have some, or a little more oil or butter, along with just about an equal amount of water or white wine.

Add the crawfish tails and pepper and salt and splashes of hot pepper sauce, cover tightly and "smother" or simmer for about 15 minutes, letting the crawfish deepen in color as they smother in their own juices and serve over mounds of that fluffy hot rice.

Mississippi Concert Hall adds second broadcast

PRM listeners will have front-row seats at "Mississippi Concert Hall" twice this week.

In addition to the regular broadcast time of 9 a.m. Thursdays, "Mississippi Concert Hall" will add another performance to its weekly schedule: 1 p.m. Sundays, beginning April 6.

At 9 a.m. Thursday, April 3, producer/sound engineer William Fulton hosts listeners in three special performances.

—Pianist Edith McDaniel of Lexington, formerly of Jackson, performs three pieces by Brahms: Ballade opus 118 no. 3; Intermezzo opus 117 no. 2; and Capriccio opus 116 no. 1.

—Organist John Paul performs Chorale no. 3 in A minor by Cesar Franck, recorded March 19 at St. Andrews Episcopal Cathedral in Jackson.

—Soprano Starla Staveloy of Kilmichael, alto Eleni Matos of Jackson, tenor Grady Bailey of Calhoun City, bass Keith Cook of Ocean Springs and pianists Frank and Sandra Polanski of the Millsaps faculty of Jackson perform the Liebeslieder waltzes opus 52A by Brahms from "An Evening of Brahms" at Millsaps College in Jackson, recorded March 18.

At 1 p.m. Sunday, April 6, "Mississippi Concert Hall" presents an encore broadcast of its January 2 program.

—The Millsaps Singers under the direction of Dr. Timothy Coker, director of choral activities at Millsaps College, give the world premiere performance of The Trumpet of the Swan, music by Dr. Samuel Jones, text by Eudora Welty; the work was performed at the 50th anniversary concert of the Millsaps Singers.

—An ensemble under the direction of Joshua Greene of New York performs Dvorak's Serenade in D Minor at the Manship House in Jackson.

—Pianist John Paul performs two works by Chopin: Etude no. 2 in A flat from his Three Etudes and his Waltz in A flat opus 42.

Public Radio in Mississippi (PRM), a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast from Biloxi on the FM dial, 91.3 mHz.

Reflections

By Rev. Curtis Moffat
Main Street and Waveland
United Methodist Churches

There it stood, a rough-hewn cross fashioned from limbs cut from the forest. It was stuck down into the mud at the edge of the lake at the youth camp.

The teen-aged boy who was showing me where I was to stand when giving the devotion said, "We put this cross here to be our worship center."

I noted a strange aspect of this cross. Out of the top edge of it several green shoots were growing, leaves already formed on them, reaching up toward the sun! The cross was sprouting again. It was not dead wood but alive and growing.

Somehow that cross has seemed to me symbolic of the self-renewing power of the church of Jesus Christ throughout the world. New growth is ever emerging. This is Easter! He lives. And because He lives, we too shall live. This is the Easter Promise.

Channel 13 staffs full-time Capitol bureau

WLOX television reports it has established a full time Capitol news bureau in Jackson.

According to Vice President and News Director Dave Vincent, "This is a logical step in better serving the viewers of South Mississippi... considering the great number of news stories that come out of our Capitol City."

Bob Noonan, a graduate of Loyola University and four-year member of the Newswatch team, has been named the bureau chief.

Noonan has been covering the '86 Legislative Session since it convened in early January.

News photographer Johnny Sartin will handle the bureau's photographic and video editing duties.

Sartin has been with WLOX TV for four years and is a radio, television, and film graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi.

Noonan will be replaced as morning anchor for A.M. Newswatch by Barbara Beck, a graduate of Loyola University.

GREETING BEARERS GALORE—A wide assortment of singing and dancing telegrams are available through JoAnn's Gifts on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis. The service, which is the first available locally, includes clowns, bears, rabbits, belly-dancers and other colorful characters who deliver birthday, anniversary and "no-occasion" greetings with balloon bouquets. (Photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Military Mention

PVT LAMBERT

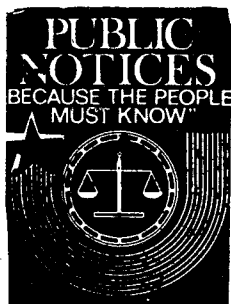

Marine Pvt. Troy A. Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Lambert of 1103 Sternwood Drive, Picayune, has completed the Marine Corps Basic Combat Engineer Course.

During the six-week course at Camp Lejeune, N.C., Lambert studied the fundamentals of engineering support for combat units. He received instruction on the tools and procedures for building bridges, roads and field fortifications. He also studied the use of demolitions, landmine warfare and camouflage techniques.

A 1985 graduate of Covenant Christian Academy, Carriere, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1985. His wife, Phyllis, is the daughter of Melvin D. and June Clabaugh of 932 Sternwood Drive, also of Picayune.

FIFTH BIRTHDAY—Lucinda Perniclaro, daughter of Joseph and Teresa Perniclaro of Bay St. Louis celebrated her fifth birthday March 22 with a Garfield theme party and a special appearance of Rainbow the Clown at the Twin Pines Roller Rink in Waveland. She was joined by family, friends, and fellow classmates of Kiddie College in Bay St. Louis.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RE-CLASSIFICATION OF LIEU LANDS
The Hancock County Board of Education hereby gives notice of the re-classification of Lieu Land (school trust) land from Agricultural to Commercial, located in Hancock County, in compliance with the requirements of Section 29-3-7, Mississippi Code of 1972 (Annotated), as shown below:
A parcel of land situated on the Northeast corner of the Caesar-Necaise Road and the Ann road which is sometimes known as the Lestown Road being 288 feet square and containing one acre and being a part of the SE 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of Section 29, Township 5 South, Range 15 West, Hancock County, MS.
Any interested parties desiring to object to this classification, or any part thereof, must submit their objection in writing to the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County on or before May 1, 1986.
